

International Trade Centre UNCTAD / WTO

e-Assessment Report of Hubei Province in China

- I. e-Trade Balance Sheet
- II. e-Trade Map
- III. e-Trade Action Points

May 1, 2004

Center for International Cooperation in E-Business
China University of Geosciences

and

Wilfred V Huang, Ph.D.
Zong Dai, Ph.D.
College of Business, Alfred University, U.S.A

Table of Contents

Part I: e-Trade Balance Sheet	1
1...Introduction	2
1.1. Objectives of the report	2
1.2. Demographic and geographical information	2
1.2.1. Geographical information
1.2.2. Population statistics
1.2.3. Education on scientific research
1.3. Economy overview	5
2. Macro Analysis	7
2.1. Attitude and Commitment	7
2.1.1. Extent of e-governance
2.1.2. Strategic importance of e-business
2.1.3. Integration of e-business and trade development (import/export)
2.2. Technology infrastructure	10
2.3. Human resources	12
2.3.1. Education
2.3.2. Labor information
2.4. Finance	14
2.4.1. Key sector developments
2.4.2. Attracting investment
2.4.3. Financial system
2.4.4. Access to finance
2.5. Policies that facilitate and enable the development of e-trade	17
2.6. Legal and regulatory framework	17
3. Analysis of the support network	18
3.1. Attitude and commitment of the support network	18
3.1.1. Awareness of the contribution of e-business practices to trade performance
3.1.2. Awareness of the contribution of e-business practices to their own effectiveness
3.2. Technology infrastructure	20
3.2.1. Existing scope of the technology support network
3.2.2. Technology infrastructure within the trade support network
3.3. Human resources	23
3.3.1. Technology support network

3.3.2.	Trade support network
3.4. ...	Availability of funds	23
3.5. ...	Culture of the trade support network	24
3.6. ...	Market environment	24
3.6.1.	Portal hosts
3.6.2.	Organizers of auctions
3.6.3.	e-Marketplace hosts
3.6.4.	Supply chain management
4.	Enterprise Analysis	26
4.1.	Attitude and commitment	26
4.2.	Technology Infrastructure	26
4.2.1.	Hardware
4.2.2.	Software
4.3.	Human resources	27
4.3.1.	Technology usage
4.3.2.	Company experience base
4.3.3.	Access to IT competent human resources
4.4.	Availability of funds	28
4.5.	Enterprise culture	28
4.5.1.	Organizational structure and working culture
4.5.2.	Business processes
4.5.3.	Management processes
4.6.	External environment	28
4.6.1.	Industry pressures
4.6.2.	Supply chain pressures
4.6.3.	Network pressures
4.6.4.	Global pressures
5.	Overall analysis	29
5.1.	Attitude and commitment	29
5.2.	Technology Infrastructure	29
5.2.1.	Hardware
5.2.2.	Software
5.3.	Human resources	30
5.3.1.	Technology usage
5.3.2.	Company experience base
5.3.3.	Access to IT competent human resources
5.4.	Availability of funds	30
5.5.	Enterprise culture	30
5.5.1.	Organizational structure and working culture
5.5.2.	Business processes

5.5.3.	Management processes
5.6.	External environment	32
5.6.1.	Industry pressures
5.6.2.	Supply chain pressures
5.6.3.	Network pressures
5.6.4.	Global pressures
6.	Conclusions	33
6.1.	Support network analysis	34
6.2.	Enterprise analysis	35
6.3.	Sectorial Analysis	36
Part II: e-Trade Map		36
1.	Introduction	37
2.	Small and medium-sized enterprises	37
2.1.	China Synopsis	37
2.2.	Hubei Synopsis	38
3.	The government and other actors intervening at the macro level	39
3.1.	Commerce Department of Hubei Province	39
3.2.	Foreign Trade Cooperation Bureau of Wuhan City	39
4.	Trade promotion organizations	39
5.	Financial institutions	40
6.	IS/ICT providers	41
6.1.	Internet service providers	41
6.2.	Software companies	43
6.3.	Hardware companies	43
7.	Human resources development institutions	43
Part III: e-Trade Action Points		45
	Programs to improve and build ICT infrastructure	46

Programs to Identify Key Policy and Enabling Legislation	47
Programs to Address Regulatory and Security Issues	47
Programs to Encourage Public/Private Partnerships and Networking Building ...	48
Programs to Create Greater Awareness among Enterprises and Government Decision Makers	48
Research Programs to Better Understand Enterprises e-Business Needs	49
Counseling and Training Programs	50
Other technical programs	50
Nationwide publication of guides and periodicals	51
To increase financing and cost-reduction planning	51
Appendix I Total results	52
Appendix II Services sector results	64
Appendix III Industrial sector results	76
Appendix IV Foreign Trade sector results	89
Appendix V Government sector results	102
Appendix VI Comparative analysis of enterprises in sectors	115